Dear Hiring Professional:

This letter is to explain items you will find on my background report. In 2018 I was convicted of a 2nd degree misdemeanor for criminal mischief. This relates to a situation where I was in a verbal conflict that escalated and resulted in some property damage. Looking back on this situation I wish I would have handled the situation differently and I regret that I caused harm to others and to myself through my actions.

Since I had no prior issues with the law, I have been granted a deferred sentence. I have successfully complied with all court requirements including attending probation, providing clean UA's, paying all fines, and engaging in educational and counseling related classes. I expect my case to be dismissed in January 2020. Through this experience I have learned how to identify when a situation is getting out of hand and what strategies to use to de-escalate any conflict. This includes remaining calm, communicating clearly, and walking away if needed before attempting to resolve the situation. I have a strong support circle to go to if I need it and am confident this one, isolated event will never happen again.

I bring a lot of strengths to the workplace and know that if given the chance, I will make a strong, contributing member to any team. As an independent worker who is reliable and works hard to meet employer goals, I have quickly been promoted in previous positions after demonstrating my knowledge, abilities, and work ethic on the job. I am excited to continue my career in security where I can pursue my passion of serving others by ensuring a safe environment for them.

Thank you for your consideration and I am happy to answer any questions you may have.

Sincerely,

James Wilson
